Hilton Prague Old Town Announces Completion of a 550,000 Euro Renovation

PRAGUE – May 6, 2015 – Hilton Prague Old Town announced it has completed its planned 550.000 Euro renovation of the Executive floor.

“The outcome of the renovation exceeded our expectations. The sophisticated look and upgraded facilities will certainly enhance every guest’s experience,” said Luca Crocco, general manager, Hilton Prague Old Town.

The project was designed by Swiss interior designer Ina Rinderknecht, and managed by Ian Bryan Architects, both being renowned for their work in the hospitality industry. Hilton Prague Old Town will offer guests a fresh concept along with new floors, walls and furnishings. Guests will experience the changes as soon as they enter the floor with new, light wallpaper, carpet and decorative mirrors near the lifts, as well as new bench seating. A dramatic statement was included with the glowing five-light sconces, made of forged iron with antique brass faceted details.

Inside, earthy mustards and mauves give a touch of class to the new rooms, which also feature new wardrobes with an Astronomical Clock design and sheer drapery. The fresh wallcoverings have a delicate texture, modelled on the subtle irregularity of hand-woven abaca. Business travellers will appreciate the new solid hard wood desks with integrated writing mat and data box. There are delicate bed side tables, modern-lined chairs and a new luggage bench. In the bathrooms, guests will welcome the larger square basins, anti-fog mirrors and portable hairdryers.

Prague is a thriving city with a texture and magnificence of its own. Inspiration for the new design came from the city’s historic past, romantic streets and dynamism of today. The overall look is one of graceful elegance, a room you’ll be happy to return to from a day of sightseeing or a day of deal making.

In total, 40 rooms underwent the upgrade: 20 King Executive Premium Rooms, 14 Twin Executive Premium Rooms and 6 Queen Executive Premium Rooms, with a total investment of 550,000 EUR.
